

The Feng Shui Bagua:

Two Saturday Classes in Hilo - October 14 & 21

The bagua is one of feng shui's most powerful tools. It is a grid of nine areas that lies over the floor plan of a room or building. Each area corresponds to an aspect of life.

The word bagua means eight areas, and the eight areas around the Center (of the home or room) are: Relationships, Fortunate Blessings (Wealth), Health & Family, Wisdom, Reputation, Career (Life's Path), Helpful People & Travel, Creativity & Children.

The first class (Saturday, Oct. 14) is Introduction to the Bagua. The history and concept of the bagua map are explored, showing how it evolved from a basic yin/yang symbol. The five elements and their cycles are introduced—this is some of the most complicated material in Form School feng shui, but it's worth it, because the power of color and shape are explained. Those are very basic things in life and having a good foundation of their symbolism is also very basic to feng shui. Come prepared to take notes and you are welcome to audio or video record.

The second class (Saturday, Oct. 21) is Application of the Bagua.

This is the fun part, but it depends on the knowledge of the concepts introduced in the previous class. Small areas such as desktops, closets, and bathrooms are covered. Contemporary design principles are applied to ancient feng shui concepts. Other concepts covered are, the five elements, and the bagua map. Additional topics are color, empowered positions, clutter, plants, and the differences between Compass and Landform Schools.

Clear Englebert has practiced and taught feng shui in Hawaii and California since 1995. A recognized feng shui expert, he has appeared on television, radio, and in the print media.

He has written six books on feng shui, including Feng Shui for Hawaii and Feng Shui for Hawaii Gardens. His latest book is Feng Shui for Love & Money. His books are available in five languages (including Japanese) and in downtown Hilo at Basically Books and Big Island BookBuyers. For more information visit fungshway.com.

These two-hour classes start at 1:00 PM and cost $15 each. Preregistration is not necessary, however if you prepay for both classes the cost drops to $25.

Both classes will be held at Hinano Healing Arts, 465 Hinano St., Hilo, HI 96720
